11:35 a.m. (15 min)	6.2 Overview of Legislative Analyst's Office Report (Supplement)	Dr. Meier will provide an overview of the recent report from the Legislative Analyst's Office, " How Small Is Too Small? An Analysis of School District Consolidation. " In this report, LOA investigates the claims made in support and opposition of combining smaller school districts into larger districts. The report identifies that some small districts' spending patterns and student performance differ slightly from larger districts, but very small districts have some notable differences. The report suggests that substantial funding advantages and certain disincentives keep small districts from opting for consolidation. The LOA analysis suggests the state should not pursue a one-size-fits all approach for district configuration or require all small school districts to consolidate, but it does suggest the state should remove existing disincentives. The LOA recommends the state increase the minimum size for districts to at least 100 students.
